Supposed Corpse Recovers After Two Undertakers Had Fought for Body.

Concord, N. H., July 20 .- In Berlin, on Tuesday, a workman employed at the Burgess mill, went in bathing after dinner, and was supposedly drowned, the body being recovered. Two undertakers were summoned. On his way back one of the undertakers met the other, who aought unsuccessfully to get possession of the body. He followed it back to the city, however, and when his rival's undertaking establishment was reached, made another effort which resulted in such a warm argument that a policeman was called in. Finally a settlement was reached, and on opening the hasket in which the body was carried it was discovered that the man was showing land should have defeated Barre-Montages of life.
